A NOBLE WOMAN.

Julia Ward Howe is dead. A friend of humanity has left this earthly stage. At Brown University last year while bestowing the degree of Doctor of Letters she was hailed as "author, philanthropist, mother, friend of the slave, the prisoner and all who suffer, singer of the battle hymn of freedom."

Her life was exceptionally long and active. On her ninetieth birthday she was able to say that the deeper she drank the cup of life the sweeter it grew.

She will doubtless be, and we may say, indeed, that she should be, most generally remembered as the author of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." That is not to imply that her numerous other writings were unworthy of remembrance. On the contrary, some of them have appreciably enriched the reading world. But that one ringing and resplendent lyric seems to stand apart, in a class of its own. Conspicuously above not only the rest of her works, but also above the great mass of writings of that time, it stands as the product of inspiration and as in turn a potent source of inspiration. Those who have heard the swing and the surge of its resounding lines as sung by an army on the march or by a great multitude impassioned in their earnestness can realize something of the spiritual force which it has exerted upon millions and which it is destined still to exert upon people engaged in a great campaign for freedom.

For a longer period than the average lifetime Julia Ward Howe was engaged with more than ordinary activity and effectiveness in a variety of labors which were directed unselfishly toward the uplifting of humanity. In the last generation of a life which comprised the span of three generations her activities were lessened though not abated, while her sympathies and interests remained undiminished and the honor, affection and reverence in which she was held steadily increased. She became an American institution, a type of American womanhood, American love of humanity and all the highest ideals of the American personality, the American home and the American commonwealth. She had long been to most persons so largely a great name and an ennobling tradition that her transition from the present to the past will be publicly less felt than merely perceived in the written record, though it will serve to place a final seal upon a career marked in an exceptional degree by both practical usefulness and spiritual beauty.

PERRYGRAPHS.

It is a poor weak creature that can see nothing but good in his own party and nothing but evil in the other party.

There is money in lying. Dr. Cook made a hundred thousand dollars lie-ing about his discovery of the North Pole.

The success of the Germans at home and abroad is because their education is on practical lines. A German knows how to do things.

The only people that make no mistakes are the dead ones.

We hear nothing but kind words for Senator Deliver. Now that he is dead, we have a suspicion, however, that some of the standpatters are not so grieved as they would make it appear.

One among the compliments that Roosevelt should be proud of is the frenzied antagonism of some newspaper editors.

Sectional lines have been obliterated in an unexpected way. Standpater Democrats of the South on the tariff have done the work.

David Rankin, the largest practical farmer in the world, died within the past few days. He owned thirty thousand acres of good land and managed it all himself. He made his first money as a common laborer and invested it in calves that grew to maturity on the ranges. About fifty years ago he went to the extreme northwestern part of Missouri and bought land when it was very cheap.
As he made more money he bought more land. He was one of the few millionaires against whom there was never a suspicion of graft.

LINER IN QUARANTINE.

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 20.—The statement is published in the newspapers that the steamer Araguaya, from Southampton September 30 and Lisbon October 3, is in quarantine at this port, several deaths from cholera having occurred among the emigrants abroad.

TO FLOAT BIG LOAN.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—An official note issued Wednesday evening confirms the announcement that an agreement has been reached between Turkey and France for the flotation of a $30-000,000 loan in Paris. The note adds that France has obtained the guarantees which she demanded from Turkey.

POPULISTS LEFT OFF BALLOT.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 20.— The Populist party will not have any place on the official ballot in the Indiana election this year, as their petition did not have the required 500 signers. The five parties having places on the ticket this year are the Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, Socialist and Socialist Labor.

DEPUTY IS THRD VICTIM.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 20.— Deputy Sheriff George Hale died Wednesday night, third victim of the by-tyle in this city last Friday, October 14, when George, alias "Red," Johnson, was shot to death by a posse.
Detective George Lentz is not expected to recover.

WHAT, SO SOON!

LISBON, Oct. 20.—There are rumors of a Cabinet crisis. The Ministers of War, Finance and Public Works, it is believed, will resign.

"LISTENERS NEVER HEAR

any good of themselves" is a saying that doesn't go in our case. We have heard so many nice things said about our lumber by experienced builders that we have become used to them.
There must be a reason for these compliments. A single trial of our lumber will reveal it to you.

We hear much more about common sense than we see.

RED WING, MINNESOTA.

(From Sun-Sentinel.)

A little over a year since, we had the pleasure of being the guest for a day of Red Wing, Minn. It is located about 60 miles down the Mississippi from St. Paul. It is a city about the size of Winchester, but in public enterprise it lays us far in the shade.
A hospital located on one of the cliffs overlooks the river would be an honor to any city. The public library, a fine building, in addition to books had on exhibition samples of the town's industries and also of the surrounding country.

Red Wing has fine common school buildings and among them one devoted to industrial education that cost fifty thousand dollars. It also has a small farm of seven acres where practical agricultural education is taught to the children from the sixth grade up. It is known as the Red Wing School Farm and is the pride of the community.

The object of the school farm at Red Wing is not one of research but rather to bring to the children a practical demonstration of farm life, its possibilities and pleasures. In the fall, winter and early spring months regular laboratory work is given by the agricultural department.

In the spring the boys and girls are given a garden of their own which they are to plant, cultivate and harvest. Each plot is eight by eighteen feet in size and can be planted to such vegetables as are preferred. A great variety of products are raised.
There are tomatoes, peas, beans, cucubers, cabbage, radish, lettuce, beets, carrots and melons. All the stuff each child raises is his, subject only to being registered when it is

Young Men This Is the Age of Distinctive Clothes

Wear Those Made by Young Men's Experts

Appropriateness, fitness, tone and effect are the qualities you want, Young Men, if you've the least spark of pride in your clothes. Your clothes must fit your figure. But, more than this, they must fit your personality, actually be a part of you.

This is the principle on which Ederheimer-Stein clothes are made. They are designed to harmonize with Young Men's ideas and tastes.
Foolish extremes are avoided, but every line of the garment contributes something in the way of smartness, distinctiveness, exclusiveness.

These are your kind of clothes, made your way, different clothes than the ordinary, distinctive clothes.

Vic Bloomfield & Co., Winchester, Ky.

taken from the farm.

This year there were raised among all the rest, fifteen varieties of pumpkins, seven of watermelons, twelve of peas, nine of beans, ten of cabbage, nine of tomatoes, six of red peppers, fifteen of corn.

In Minnesota, politics cuts no ice.
When the interests of the people are at stake. The State, county and municipal affairs are so well and economically managed that public funds have accumulated to the point that there will be no necessity for levying any taxes in 1911. The State is largely Republican but Democratic officials are elected when it is thought they are the best men.
